TRUCK DRIVER KILLED IN ROUTE 23 CRASH

Moscow Radio Accusing U. S. Of Interference

WASHINGTON, April 1—President Truman's proposed 400 million dollar Greek-Turkish aid program today had touched off a violent campaign of opposition in the Moscow radio.

In the early days following announcement of the program, the Moscow radio maintained a moderate silence on the project.

Now, however, all the areas which might be influenced by what appears to be a major shift in United States foreign policy, are receiving lengthy reports criticizing the program.

Rather than concentrating on American designs in Greece, according to sample broadcasts received in the U. S., Moscow centers attention on alleged attempts of America to control Turkey and the Near and Middle East.

Proposals that the United States maintain control over the use of American dollars in Greece, as well as insistence on local reforms in Greece's economy, have been subject also to some Soviet censure. It is charged that these steps will be an interference in Greek internal affairs.

In fact, the offer of the loans themselves in both Greece and Turkey are denounced as actual interference in the internal affairs of both countries.

One broadcast charged that the proposal was aimed at having the United States take control over the Arab states in place of the British.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

The anti-Communist drive in Washington is a witch hunt. That is the considered opinion of many of our prominent witches.

A commie insists that he is as patriotic as the next fellow — by strange coincidence the next fellow happens to be another commie.

In New York the hunt for reds has been temporarily postponed. Most of the city is hunting for Langleigh Collyer.

Any Eugene Dennis who wouldn't give his right name to a committee of congress gave it to a group of 3,000—Communists dislike performing before a small audience.

At Moscow an unaccustomed correspondent and an unaccustomed candidate have arrived for the conference. It's practically the only thing Steele and Stassen have in common.

Mr. Stassen hopes to learn something which will be of value in the 1948 campaign. So far we've picked up a few threads of information on earlier campaigns.

King George of Greece Dies

PRINCE PAUL IS SUCCESSOR TO GREEK MONARCH

Heart Disease Is Blamed For Death Of Ruler, Long Exiled From Country

ATHENS, April 1—Death today struck down King George II of Greece at a moment of high destiny in the history of his nation.

The sovereign of the ancient kingdom of the Hellenes, restored to his throne by popular plebiscite a scant six months ago, was 56 years of age.

His 57th birthday would have come on July 20.

Immediately after the monarch's death, the inner cabinet summoned his 46-year old younger brother Prince Paul and proclaimed him king of the Hellenes.

Prince Paul recently made a personal tour of northern Greece, where continued guerrilla warfare and Communist infiltration had undermined seriously stability of the nation.

NEWS OF the king's death came as a shock to the nation. It was known that during his years of exile in England and Egypt his health had not been robust and he had abandoned the horseback riding and other strenuous sports that characterized his youth.

But there had been no advance warning that his condition was in any way precarious.

Pending a full official military bulletin, the palace announcement merely said that King George had died of "heart failure."

Since his return to Athens from London aboard a Greek Cruiser, King George had remained more or less in the background.

LEWIS TO GIVE TESTIMONY ON MINE DISASTER

WASHINGTON, April 1—John L. Lewis will appear before a house labor committee Thursday to testify on the Centralia, (Ill.), mine disaster which claimed the lives of 111 UMW members.

The mine union leader is to give his version of circumstances leading to the soft coal miners' six-day "memorial" work stoppage which began early this morning.

Lewis will appear at a 10 a. m. session of the subcommittee headed by Rep. Schwabe (R) Mo., which is concerned with welfare problems, including those of mine workers.

Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug and other government officials will be invited to subsequent sessions.

Meantime, Federal District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough postponed for one week a hearing on the UMW's request for return of $2,800,000 of its original contempt fine.

The hearing was scheduled for next Thursday, but the jurist postponed it until April 19 at the request of both the justice department and the union.

FARMERS FLEEING BEFORE FIERY ICELAND VOLCANO

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, April 1—Thousands of sheep and cattle have been slain by farmers fleeing seven rivers of molten lava that are flowing down the sides of Iceland's erupting Mount Hekla.

Sixteen farms have been engulfed by the blazing streams, and scores of others are threatened.

The largest of the lava flows was said to be 30 feet high and two miles wide. It was reported to be advancing at a rate of 100 feet an hour.

Spain A Kingdom

WITNESSES FOR DEFENSE HEARD

Effort Made To Prove Julian Incapable Of Planning Wife's Murder

Testimony given by several defense witnesses in the first degree murder trial of Harvey B. Julian, 26, tended to show Tuesday that the alleged slayer of 20-year-old Pearl Eileen Brown Julian was mentally incapable of planning a first degree murder.

The trial began Monday before three common pleas judges in Pickaway county common pleas court and the state rested its case late Monday afternoon.

First witness placed on the stand Tuesday by Defense Attorney Emmitt L. Crist was Harold Strous, principal of the Salter Creek township elementary and high school. Strous read from Julian's school record and testified that Julian attained poor grades.

Declaring that throughout his years in school Julian had a "very fine attitude," Strous testified that the youth was graduated in 1942 although his grades (Continued on Page Two)

JEWISH LEADER URGES ACTION TO STOP VIOLENCE

JERUSALEM, April 1—David Ben-Gurion, leader of the Jewish agency for Palestine, called on all Jews in the Holy Land today to "use organized forces" to stamp out anti-British violence.

Ben-Gurion is a member of the world executive of the agency.

He said the Zionist movement throughout the world supported measures against underground violence, but insisted the trouble was rooted in Britain's failure to establish an acceptable policy.

His appeal was made almost simultaneously with announcement of the Palestine supreme court that it will entertain an application by the mayor of Tel Aviv asking army authorities to show cause why underground agent Dov Gruner should not be saved from the gallows.

LEADERS PUSH GREEK AID PLAN DESPITE DEATH

Senate Committee Continues Efforts To Get Solons To Approve Program

WASHINGTON, April 1—The senate foreign relations committee, although greatly concerned by the sudden death of King George II of Greece, drove today toward final action on the Greco-Turkish aid program.

Congressional leaders agreed that the monarch's unexpected passing would not alter plans to speed President Truman's proposal to block Communism in Greece through U. S. financial aid.

The President was expected to send official condolences to Athens on the king's death later today.

WHITE HOUSE Secretary Charles G. Ross was asked whether the grim development would affect in any way the President's program for economic assistance to Greece. He replied:

"I would not want to make any snap judgment on such a matter."

It was pointed out that the March 31 deadline set by the President for congressional approval of a 400 million dollar grant has passed, and Ross was asked whether the White House would move to make funds available through RFC pending congressional action.

He said he knew of no such move.

SEN. VANDENBERG (R) Mich., chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, declined immediate comment on the king's death but other senators agreed that it would not impede the assistance program.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, a member of the foreign relations committee, said:

JEW MAY TRY TO LEAVE U. S. ZONE OF REICH

FRANKFURT, April 1—An attempted mass exodus of 150,000 Palestine-bound Jewish displaced persons from the United States zone of Germany was considered likely today by U. S. Army authorities.

A warning from Rabbi Philip Bernstein, the zone's top authority on Jewish affairs, was said to have confirmed earlier reports from UNRRA and Jewish sources.

Leaders of impatient Jewish factions were believed to have timed their scheduled effort at large-scale illegal emigration to coincide with the foreign ministers' conference in Moscow.

A series of demonstrations in Jewish displaced persons camps last week was said to have been a part of this large-scale program aimed at forcing a decision on the plight of the Jews in Germany.

Ohio Fish and Game Laws Barely Made Deadline

COLUMBUS, O., April 1—By the narrowest of margins—two committee votes and 91 minutes—Ohio still had its fish and game laws intact today.

At 10:29 last night, Governor Herbert "reluctantly" signed into law the famed "fox bill," which had as its intention making permanent the authority of counties to declare fox varmints and place a bounty on the wily critters' heads.

By accident or design, the proposal was entangled in the sections of the law which set forth nearly all of the enforcement sections of the game laws, and which would have expired at midnight.

But the technique of the bill may be faulty to the extent that it might be impossible for the newly-enacted law ever to find its way into the general code. It will be law without doubt, but it may be "special" or unclassified law which cannot be assigned a code number.

That means, in laymen's language, that it may be a law that even the lawyers won't be able (Continued on Page Two)

U. S. Offers Plan To Break German Crisis

MOSCOW, April 1—The United States is willing to put back into immediate production 1,000 industrial plants in western Germany and earmark their output for reparations if the big four can reach a satisfactory solution of the Reich's economic future.

This was learned by International News Service from a high authority today as the council of foreign ministers met in secret session.

Flanked only by two advisers and an interpreter, United States Secretary of State Marshall went to the "restricted" council meeting armed with this offer in an effort to unravel the tangled skein of differences among the conferees.

The offer was designed to show America's good faith and willingness to raise the level of German industries so that Russia's reparations demands—if scaled down to a "reasonable" level—can be met out of current production.

Secretary Marshall selected American ambassador Walter Bedell Smith and state department mentor Benjamin Cohen as his two advisers at the first restricted meeting held by the big four in Moscow.

There was general recognition that the key to success of the conference now is reparations for Russia.

AMERICAN, British and French delegations are willing to see Russia get reasonable reparations under certain conditions. The most important of these is that such payments shall not delay establishment of a balanced budget.

SOLON DEMANDS ACTION ON REDS

Un-American Committee Head Wants Communist Party To Be Prosecuted

WASHINGTON, April 1—Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R) N. J., demanded today that Attorney General Tom Clark prosecute the American Communist party because of its failure to register as a foreign agent.

The chairman of the house un-American activities committee asked Clark to take legal action against the Communist organization "to the full extent of the law."

Thomas, in a letter to the attorney general said the Communists have violated two acts of congress.

Party members and its officers, he said, have violated the McCormack registration act and the Voorhis act which provides that agents of a foreign power and organizations subject to foreign control which engage in political activity shall be required to register with the department of state and the department of justice.

Thomas' request followed the filing with the house of a 56-page committee report declaring that the Communist party is an agent of Soviet Russia.

FRANCO ORDERS MONARCHY FOR SPAIN IN FUTURE

MADRID, April 1—Generalissimo Francisco Franco today paved the way for restoration of the monarchy in Spain.

Franco sent to the cortes (parliament) a decree entitled "a bill on succession to the chief of state" which proclaims Spain a kingdom and provides for a council of the kingdom to rule with him.

The council is empowered in the event of Franco's death or his inability to perform his duties to name a successor, or, failing in this, to establish a regency of three of the council members.

Franco at the same time reserves for himself the right to name the person who is to succeed him.

The measure provides for royal succession, opening a way for pretender Don Juan to ascend the Spanish throne which at present is defunct.

DEMOS FIGHT ECONOMY DRIVE

Effort Made To Restore Part Of Funds To Pay Veterans Benefits

WASHINGTON, April 1—Democrats opened a fight today in the house to slow down the GOP economy drive and restore 350 million dollars for veterans' benefits under the GI bill of rights.

The cut is part of a 551 million dollar reduction made by the house appropriations committee in the request of the veterans administration for deficiency funds to carry the agency through the remainder of the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Rep. Cannon (D) Mo., ranking minority committee member, will sponsor an amendment restoring part of the funds. Cannon said no attempt will be made to put back into the bill another 200 million dollars disappeared by the committee for payment of veterans' pensions.

"The former committee chairman said the $350 million was needed to administer the GI bill of rights, but both sides were apparently agreed that the sum requested for veterans' pensions was excessive and could be cut safely."

The committee gave Gen. Bradley, veterans administrator, $1,451,894,500 of the slightly more than two billion dollars he requested. The funds are included in a deficiency bill carrying $2,471,498,548 for various federal agencies for the remainder of the 1947 fiscal year, $628,139,491 less than requested by the administration. A final vote of the bill was anticipated this afternoon.

HENRY RATLIFF IS PINNED IN FIERY WRECKAGE

Tractor-Trailer Outfit Hits Bell Siding Underpass Pier Headon

Henry Con Ratliff, 37, West Portsmouth, father of seven children was killed about 11 p. m. Monday when the loaded tractor-trailer he drove south on U. S. Route 23 crashed headon against the center pier of the Norfolk and Western railway road underpass at Bell Siding, three miles north of Circleville.

The truck ignited almost instantly and flames which leaped as high as the top of the railroad structure destroyed most of the tractor-trailer and the cargo.

Trapped in the cab the body of Mr. Ratliff was not removed from the wreckage, Fire Chief Talmer Wise said until about 3 a. m. It was badly burned.

Circleville firemen, called to the scene, battled the flames and extinguished them quickly.

Part of the cargo of fruit, vegetables, cigarettes, tobacco, leather, etc., was stolen by persons attracted to the scene of the tragedy, according to Chief Wise.

Mr. Ratliff was operating a truck owned by the Braddock Motor Freight company, Washington C. H.

Pickaway County Sheriff Charles Radcliff said that apparently either Mr. Ratliff fell asleep at the wheel or the steering apparatus failed.

Preceding the fire several explosions, possibly from gasoline tanks and tires, were reported.

Highway patrolmen, sheriffs deputies and firemen worked for two hours to free Mr. Ratliff's body.

The body was removed to the Defenbaugh funeral home and was to be taken Tuesday to Portsmouth by the Linn funeral home for burial.

BUS DRIVER IS HELD FOLLOWING FLORIDA TRIP

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., April 1—William L. Cimillo, 37-year-old New York City bus driver who was overcome last Friday by a sudden urge to travel, was held by Hollywood police today because he drove his 44-passenger vehicle on a 1,340-mile jaunt down the east coast to Florida.

Officers picked up the wayward bus driver late yesterday at Gulfstream park race track and jailed him on a request from New York police, who asked that he be held for grand larceny.

Cimillo told police chief Paul Thompson that he merely "wanted to get away from it all" when he started his travel.

He said debts were piling up on him, and when he took the shiny diesel-powered machine from its Bronx garage parking place he just headed southward.

When police nabbed him at Gulfstream park, Cimillo appeared relieved. He later told Chief Thompson he realized his error and said he was ready to drive the bus back to New York.

Police searched for Cimillo all afternoon after the New York driver had wired his employers, the Surface Transportation system, to telegraph him money for diesel fuel so he could return the $18,000 bus.

SIX MEMBERS INITIATED BY KIWANIS CLUB

Lieutenant Governor Of Division Is Speaker At Meeting

Six new members were initiated by George Gauthier, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis, at the regular Monday evening meeting in Hanley's of the Circleville Kiwanis club.

Inducted by the lieutenant governor of the division were John Kerns, William Weldon, Collis Young, Vernon Hawkes, Edgar Florian and Louis Mebs.

Following the initiation Mr. Gauthier stressed the old and new objectives of Kiwanis International. He stated that this year Kiwanis, in addition to pushing its regular projects—boys and girls work, support of churches and others—is interested in helping schools, keeping faith with veterans, conservative government, balanced budget, support of United Nations and free enterprise.

The speaker, who is director of athletics at Ohio Wesleyan University, stated that athletic contests "are the greatest expression of the American way of life." He compared the successful Kiwanis club with a well-organized and winning team.

Sam Waldon, Chillicothe Kiwanian, invited the Circleville club to join in the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Chillicothe club May 21.

Other visitors at the meeting were William Griffith, Delaware, G. S. Dill and Dan McClain, Chillicothe.

U. S. OFFERS GERMAN PLAN

Russia wants reparations payments right away at the rate of half a billion dollars annually for the next 20 years.

Neither Marshall nor British Foreign Secretary Bevin believe it is possible to milk German reparations at the rate of a billion dollars annually. This would be necessary to assure Russia her demanded 50 per cent.

MEANWHILE it was understood that Marshall feels Molotov is wasting too much time talking about Russia's rights under the Potsdam agreement—an agreement to which nobody has lived up.

The principal statesmen of Britain, France, Russia and the United States decided to hold what is termed a "restricted" meeting so that they might speak frankly and determine if there is any way to reconcile sharply conflicting views.

The decision was taken after the ministers conferred for four hours yesterday and realized there is as yet no understanding in sight on major issues related to the German and Austrian peace treaties after more than three weeks of discussion.

did not actually warrant the graduation.

SECOND defense witness was Russ C. Palm, manager of the Pickaway Dairy. He testified Julian worked there two weeks and that he was discharged at noon on Jan. 21, the day Julian's ex-wife was shot and killed on an isolated township road three miles east of Circleville.

Palm testified that the discharge was necessary because Julian was unable to figure bills correctly and that on one occasion Julian calculated $34 worth of butter at only $18. Palm also declared that about one week after Julian started to work at the Pickaway Dairy his divorced wife also applied for employment there. The divorce occurred one month prior to the slaying.

Third defense witness was Mary Schreiner, an office clerk at the Pickaway Dairy. Her testimony was similar to that given by Palm.

SINCE the trial began Julian, seated at the counsel table with Defense Attorney Crist, has maintained a calm and almost stoical countenance. His aged widowed mother and his two sisters Tuesday occupied seats in the front row of spectators.

The state presented seven witnesses Monday and also in-liner revolver and a 22-caliber rifle over the objections of defense counsel.

The testimony indicated that Mrs. Julian was hit on the head several times and was then shot in the back, the 22-caliber bullet emerging from her chest.

State's witnesses Monday afternoon included Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff and Sheriff Charles Radcliff.

JULIAN was declared sane after a three-week period of observation in the Columbus State hospital, and late in February officials of that institution reported that Julian had the mentality of a nine-year-old boy.

The three jurists hearing the case are: Judge William D. Radcliff of Pickaway county, Judge Howard Goldsberry of Ross county, and Judge George W. McDowell of Highland county.

PRINCE PAUL IS SUCCESSOR TO GREEK MONARCH

Greek throne was the subject of violent political wrangles between rightist and leftist elements in Greece. Communist factions insisted the plebiscite was not an open and fair one, and that he had been returned to the throne only by means of what was termed "a ballot of British bayonets."

From a personal point of view, however, the late king always enjoyed a considerable popularity which to many observers was somewhat surprising in view of his frequent long exiles from this ancient country.

When on Sept. 28, 1946, he debarked at Piraeus—port of Athens—at the behest of a plebiscite, George mounted the throne for the third time in his stormy career.

He first ascended the throne on Sept. 28, 1922 when his father—King Constantine—was deposed for the second time following an ill-starred war against Turkey. Constantine also had been removed from the throne in 1917, but was restored briefly in 1920.

On Dec. 19, 1923, he and his queen left Greece after the republican spirit spread throughout the country under the leadership of the politician Papanastasiou.

George refused to sign a decree of abdication. In a letter to the president of the council, he declared he was "merely going away for the time being."

On Nov. 3, 1935 he was restored to the throne following a plebiscite.

was using the mourning period as an escape.

He said Lewis was forestalled by the court in his attempted strike April 1 and is using the mourning period as a method of bringing to pass by subterfuge what he could not accomplish by direct action.

UMW District president William Blizard at Charleston, said the miners at least expected a silent prayer from Thurmond and the southern operators in behalf of the Centralia victims, adding: "I hope he (Thurmond) will demonstrate enough courage to hang his head in shame for breaking into the public print."

THROUGHOUT the nation's coal patches the miners generally did not take any direct action at regularly scheduled weekend meetings in assessments for the families of the victims or by resolution supporting Lewis' attack on Interior Secretary Krug.

However, locals in West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee passed resolutions asking Krug's immediate dismissal and opposing the appointment of James Boyd as head of the United States bureau of mines.

WALLACE WOULD GIVE AWAY ATOM, PANAMA CANAL

NEW YORK, April 1—Henry A. Wallace, former vice-president, advanced the proposal today for the United States not only to turn over control of atomic energy to the United Nations but also control of the Panama Canal.

Wallace told an overflow crowd at Madison Square Garden last night:

"We ask that the United Nations face the problem of security not piecemeal but on a world-wide basis. This means internationalization of the Dardanelles, the Suez canal and the Panama canal. It means world disarmament and world control of atomic energy."

GASOLINE ON FIRE

Firemen were called to the Clifton Garage, 119 South Court street, at 5:50 p. m. Monday when gasoline ignited. Fire Chief Talmor Wise gave no estimate of the loss. He said the blaze followed the explosion of a 50-gallon drum of undercoating which was under pressure. Jack Clifton was slightly injured by the blast.

"Therefore, it is of the utmost importance that we take whatever action we are going to take with the greatest possible speed."

Paul A. Porter, President Truman's special economic envoy to Greece, was the first witness called by the committee. Porter, before he began his testimony, said he did not believe it would be proper for him to comment.

The state department was expected to agree reluctantly to Vandenberg's proposal that the United Nations be given a majority "veto" power over the aid program.

PARADES WILL MARK OPENING OF ARMY WEEK

Thousands Of Ex-Soldiers To March Again On Next Monday

WASHINGTON, April 1 — GI parades honoring soldiers of two world wars were scheduled today to cover the United States during "Army Week", beginning April 7.

Army day, falling this year on Easter Sunday, will be observed one day later than usual to prevent the thud of marching feet from breaking the hush of the anniversary of the rising of the prince of peace.

The war department said that an impressive percentage of the approximate fourteen million Army veterans of both world wars are expected to join the ranks of marchers during Army week, bearing the theme:

"A strong America is a peaceful America."

THE ARMY, in planning nationwide marches, thought grimly of another March, the anniversary of which coincides with Army week.

An aide-memoire prepared by the department reminded the nation: "April 9, 1942—Bataan fell to the Japanese, leading to the infamous march of death for American and Filipino prisoners."

The largest parade is scheduled for New York City with 30,000 expected to participate. A preliminary survey showed that similar ceremonies will be held in at least 31 other major cities in six army areas.

MAYOR O'DWYER of New York City, Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, First Army commander, and other state and city dignitaries will be in the reviewing stand.

Military personnel will include the West Point corps cadets, National Guard and reserve units, Army air force units, First Army WAC platoons, four Army ground force bands and military police platoons.

Air cover will be provided by 150 planes from the air defense command, Mitchell field and the first air force, Fort Slocum.

A partial list of Army week parades included Columbus and Dayton, O.

HERBERT ASKS EXTENSION OF DEALERS DEADLINE

COLUMBUS, O., April 1—Law enforcement officers were asked by Governor Herbert today to defer arrest of dealers for failure to show 1947 license plates on their automobiles because of delay in the distribution of their special tags.

The governor asked extension of last midnight's deadline for the new tags for dealers only. He said that a paint shortage at the Ohio penitentiary had retarded mailing of the plates, but that all of them now were in the mails.

A MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF OF STAFF

The Time of Need Is Now

The Selective Service System, which helped build so magnificent a wartime Army, is being discontinued as an immediate source of men for Army service. Its record is one of distinction, and the Nation's gratitude goes out to all those responsible for the efficient administration of that system, as well as to the millions of selected men who served with such courage and devotion.

From now on we are engaged in a great test, to see whether a system traditionally American in peacetime—the volunteer system—can give us the stable, well-trained Regular Army our current international commitments require.

We have come to a crucial turning point in the development of our military establishment. Building an all-volunteer Regular Army is not a job for the War Department alone; it is a job for the American people—a task of writing the insurance against the chaos of another war.

Here are the basic facts: To carry out our present assignments, we must maintain the Regular Army at a strength of 1,070,000 men. This will require a constant flow into the Army of 30,000 men a month. These men must be of high quality, and every one must be a volunteer. Thus we face a persistent question: Can we do the job?

The task is enormous. Never before have we even considered raising and maintaining a peacetime Regular Army of a million volunteers. There are no sign-posts to go by, no experience on which to base sure forecasts. But such obstacles have never deterred this Nation before.

I have confidence in the young men of America, whose opportunity it is to choose this fine profession. And I believe we can do the job—if we have three things: public understanding, public support and public action.

National observance of Army Day and Army Week is made possible by public support. This has come from the fine young soldiers who have volunteered, from individuals, and from organized groups. Now, as we strive to build a Regular Army to help enforce world peace and security, I ask those who have given so generously of their help to redouble their efforts.

They can do so in the knowledge that the United States Army offers able young Americans not only three things every man wants—good pay, a real career, a chance for advancement—but also the honor and dignity which is associated with national service in time of need.

The time of need is now.

SCRIBE STICKS OUT HIS NECK ON APRIL FOOL

Bill Corum Picks Cardinals And Red Sox To Win Baseball Races

By BILL CORUM
INS Sports Writer
NEW YORK, April 1—Traditionally this is all-fools' and old-fool's day in this column. Old fool's because on each April 1, the writer is foolish enough to try to pick the year's major sports winners. Through the 20 years that it has been our habit to take this annual fling at fate, we have made a few remarkably good guesses and a great number of remarkably bad ones. Last year we got stuck on a horse for the Derby that turned out to be a terrible bum, Lord Boswell.

But there have been other April 1's when we have picked Pensives, Whirlwinds, Cavalcades, Gallant Foxes and Twenty Grands.

MAJOR league standings of Oct. 1, '47:

This is the way we look for the major league baseball teams to finish this season:
National league: St. Louis, Chicago, Boston, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati.
American league: Boston, Detroit, New York, Cleveland, Washington, St. Louis, Chicago, Philadelphia.

World's champions for 1947—the Boston Red Sox.
A. L. leading hitter—Ted Williams.
N. L. leading hitter—Stan Musial.
A. L. leading pitcher—Hal Newhouser.
N. L. leading pitcher—Johnny Sain.

Outstanding rookie of the year—Charley Diering, Cardinals.
Outstanding rookie pitcher of the year—Art Houtteman, Tigers.
Charge it to that "old St. Louis feeling." I've always had about the Cardinals, if you like. They again look like the surest thing in the big leagues to me. Contrary to predictions in many places, the champions signed quickly, appear to have exceptional team spirit, and have played the best ball in the grapefruit circuit.

FINISH of the 73rd Kentucky Derby:
This is the way we guess the Kentucky Derby—C. V. Whitney's Phalanx, Calumet Farm's Faultless, King Ranch's Better Value, William Hell's Cosmic Bomb.
That's my poison.

A Weak, Run-Down Feeling Is Often A Warning

That The Red-Blood Is Getting Low

If you do not feel like your real self, do not have the urge to be up and doing, why not check-up on your blood strength? Look at the palms of your hands, your fingernails, your lips, the lobes of your ears—are they pale and off color?

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Announces Details of $20,000,000 Price Reductions

Details of the recently announced International Harvester policy of making price reductions to save users of our products approximately $20,000,000 a year have now been worked out.

We have reduced prices on 163 models. These cover 12 basic models of farm tractors, 123 basic models of farm machines, 16 basic models of industrial tractors and engines, and 12 models of motor trucks, as well as certain motor truck attachments. The new lower prices are effective as of March 10, 1947.

These reductions were made not because of any decline in demand, but because we believe nothing is more important to this country than to lower the prices of the goods people buy.

While prices have not been changed on all products, we have made reductions wherever possible, in the amounts possible. Prices of many of our most popular products have been substantially lowered.

Altogether, more than half of the company's customers will be benefited by the reductions, which range from 1% to 23.8% and from $2.50 to $300 per item, based on list prices, F.O.B. Chicago.

Since the people have demanded that the government withdraw from price control in peacetime, the responsibility to keep prices in check is back where it should be—in the hands of business and industry. The business outlook makes it possible for us to move toward the goal of lower prices, and we have felt a duty to act as promptly as possible.

Our ability to maintain these lower prices will depend on the supply and price of materials we buy from others and on uninterrupted production at reasonable wage levels.

The prices listed here carry out our announced policy that "Any price is too high if it can be reduced."

25 More Types of Products

Plows—52 models reduced from $9.00 to $20.00 (3% to 10.7%).

Listers and Middlebushes—7 models reduced $5.00 in each case (2.8% to 4%).
Corn Planters—4 basic models reduced $5.00 in each case (3% to 4.8%).
Grain Drills—11 models reduced $14.25 to $20.00 (4.4% to 6.3%).
Mowers—2 basic models reduced $4.00 and $11.50 (2.5% and 5%).

ALL FOOLS' DAY DATES BACK TO ANCIENT TIMES

April Fool Tricks Played
By Pranksters Big Feature Of Day

BY FRANK SNYDER
INS Staff Correspondent
This is April 1, or more hilariously, "all fools' day."
For fun-loving folks this is the occasion to give friends (or enemies) the proverbial "hot foot" or to carry whimsical gags not much shorter than mayhem.
Loud and unrestrained laughter is emitted by the perpetrators and the gallery—and pain, chagrin, mortification, embarrassment and the urge to do murder is imprinted on the countenance of the victim.

PHONY PHONE calls to the zoo, morgue and places of even lesser distinction are the order of the day.

"Sorry but Miss Bear just went to the hospital to have a cub," will be the likely response from the zoo—that is, if they don't take the telephone receivers off their hooks for the entire day.

As a rule, however, naturally sane people get through the day without too serious mishaps. Smart folks know that pinning a sign reading, "Kick me", on the back of a friend not only invites loss of friendship but also a retaliatory punch in the nose.

WEBSTER rightfully depreciates April Fools' Day with a one-sentence brushoff.

"The April fool is one who is imposed upon or deceived in a jocular manner on April 1st," is the cryptic definition of Noah Webster.

The new International encyclopaedia is a little more informative.

"The first of April," according to the encyclopaedia, "had long been in America, and for a still longer period in many European countries, a day for mocking unwary persons by sending them on bootless errands or making them the victims of some other practical joke (like sending someone out for a left-handed monkey wrench)."

The encyclopaedia continues by saying the custom seems to have been unknown to German antiquity and adds that Grimm (the fairy tale inventor) regarded it as having been introduced into Germany from France in comparatively modern times (that's German for passing the buck to the French).

Another source of origin is a miracle play, formerly presented at Easter, which depicts the sending of Christ from Annas to Calaphas and from Pilate to Herod and back to Pilate, who finally ordered his crucifixion.

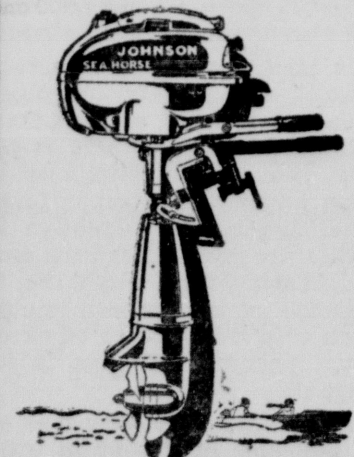

THE ROMANS celebrated the feast of the fools on February 17, at which tricks were played on the unsuspecting.

In France today the victims are described as "April fish." In Scotland, the term "gowk" or "cuckoo" is applied.

In America it is the case of "he who laughs last, laughs the loudest."

Don't pull any tricks today and you'll not be setting yourself up as the recipient of a chain-reaction even more explosive than the atom bomb.

COMMUNISTS

WHEN SUCH a personage as Federal Bureau of Investigation Chief J. Edgar Hoover says there is one Communist in this country to every 1,814 persons, and that the goal of American Communists is to overthrow this government, serious consideration must be given the whole Communist matter. Hoover further stated that New York leads the states with 30,000 Communists, followed by California with 8,500, Illinois with 6,500 and Ohio fourth with 3,800.

The F.B.I. head believes it is not his responsibility, but rather that of the Justice Department, to make recommendations and comments on the pending legislation to outlaw the Communist Party, as suggested by Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach.

It now seems undeniable that there are enough Communists in this country to be a threat to its present form of government, though not a serious threat if the situation is recognized. However, to put the Communist Party in the position of being an illegal organization, as is Schwellenbach's plan, might only force followers of this doctrine into underground activity, without destroying the party's strength. It may be better to permit the party a place on the ballot, to hold public meetings and openly express its ideas. Then vigilant, intelligent Americans devoted to the democratic way of life, for which they so recently fought, will have a concrete and definite enemy to oppose.

AFTER CATASTROPHE

AS SO OFTEN happens after a disaster, there is to be a federal investigation of the mine blast near Centralia, Ill., that took a death toll of more than 100 miners. The Senate in a voice vote passed a resolution by Senator Brooks of Illinois, that the senate public lands committee look into the whole matter.

According to reports the mine had been inspected by the Federal Coal Mines Administration in November, and in March, only a week before the explosion. The inspectors are said to have recommended that certain ventilation safety measures be increased in parts of the mine. The owners said they were working on those improvements. Some senate comment was to the effect that federal mine inspection cannot be enforced. The United Mine workers were inclined to blame everybody—government and owners alike.

Here is the usual furore after an accident. Everybody accuses everybody else. Too often there is a lot of talk, a lot of time put in on a formal investigation, and then everybody forgets all about it—until another tragedy starts the process all over again.

Assignment: America . . . by Kenneth L. Dixon

WASHINGTON, April 1 — More than a year and a half has gone by since Hiroshima. Approximately two months have passed since President Truman appointed an atomic energy commission.

At least 25 other countries are officially embarked on huge atomic research and development projects. Yet the squabble over confirmation of the President's commission appointments — which would give the long-delayed green light to our atomic energy program—still rages unabated in the United States senate today.

Plenty of people with no axe to grind whatever as far as the congressional conflict is concerned are becoming frightened at the prospect of the terrible price America may be forced to pay for this continuing delay.

Not the least of these are members of the senate committee which, by an eight to one majority, approved the appointments after six weeks of hearings. They tell you flatly that the progress of our national atomic energy program has suffered seriously, even dangerously, by the "uncertain future of the commission."

Their own hearing records support that statement.

Professor Harold C. Urey of the University of Chicago told them that during the last 18 months "the work on atomic energy was virtually at a standstill because there was no one who could accept the responsibility for major decisions. Many of the projects badly disintegrated during this period."

Other atomic experts, questioned both publicly and privately, made it plain that the damage done by the delay was even greater than anyone dared explain in open hearings. They did state publicly, however, that progress was "virtually paralyzed," and that some scientists and atomic plant workers had felt forced to turn to other fields during the delay.

Uranium producers from Colorado and Utah pointed out that 300 uranium mines in those two states were lying idle because nobody knew when the government would start buying uranium or what it would pay. And the atomic energy act makes it illegal to sell to anyone else.

Also announcing that American atomic energy research was almost at a standstill was Dr. Enrico Fermi, who directed the first chain reaction on the Manhattan project. He added that he did not think the nation could pay the price of fur-

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 1—The latest juvenile outbreaks around here have shown puzzling new aspects. Two eleven year old girls broke into a house to smear the walls and furniture with ink. A 12 year old boy went on a campaign stealing rings from the doors of new Buicks. Numerous homes have been entered and ransacked, but jewelry or money has not been taken, only a few pistols and fishing poles.

These children all come from the better class homes and all involved are under 14. All are far from undernourishment, are not at all ill clad and apparently have too much spending money. They seem to have in common a complete lack of respect for property, adults or consequences.

Now we had juvenile delinquency back when I was a boy, but it never then involved 10 to 14 year old children, but rather gangs of kids turning 16. Obviously the 10 to 14's are, or should be, completely under parental domination. They have not yet reached the age of reason. The guilt in their cases clearly rests on parental delinquency. Indeed there is practically no truly juvenile delinquency here now which cannot be attributed to parental delinquency. As the parents are among groups known as "the better class" no one knows what to do about it.

The neighborhood seems agreed a law should be passed making parents responsible for the acts of their youngsters who have not reached the age of reason. I made

A standard juvenile court act, originally drafted in 1925 by the national probation association, contains a provision which reads as follows:

"Any person who commits any act or omits the performance of any duty, which act or omission causes or tends to cause, or encourage, any child to come within the purview of subdivision 1 of section 111 of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, may be tried for such offense in the juvenile court, and upon conviction may be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment." This section outlines a specific offense generally known as contributing to delinquency, or neglect. States which have accepted this principle include Arizona, D. C., Indiana, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah and Wisconsin, while parts of the act have been adopted by California, Connecticut, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, Oregon and Virginia.

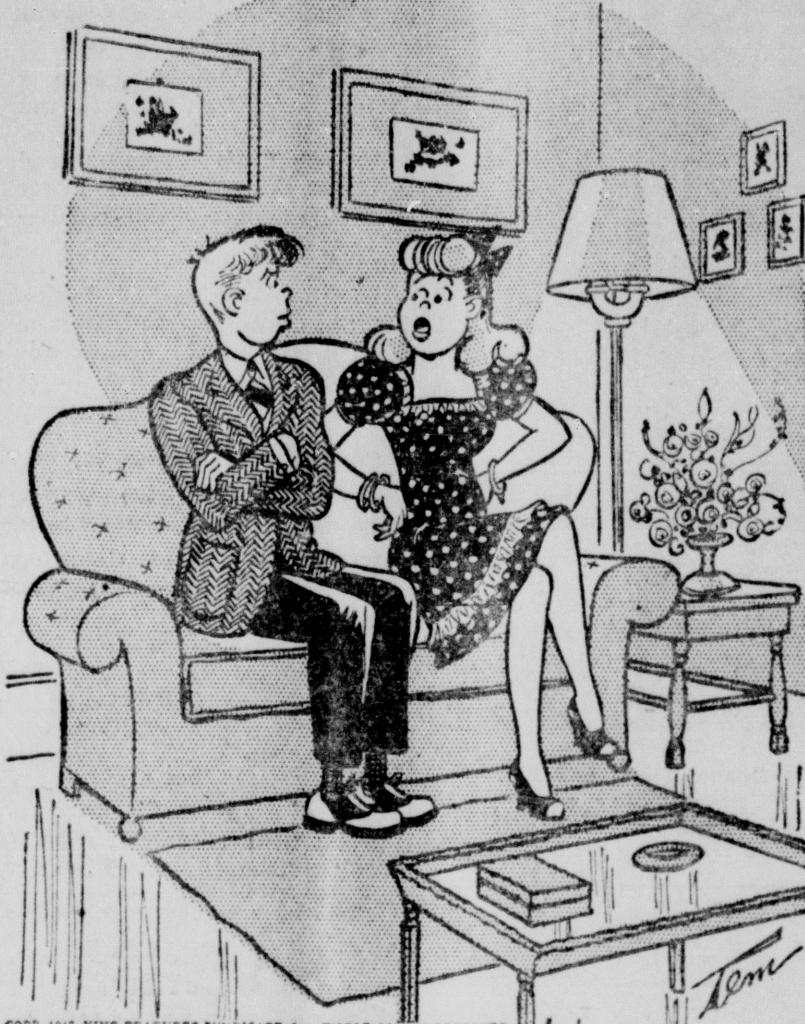

The trouble, then, is that the act is not being enforced. What is needed is some public impetus demanding enforcement.

Some communities are taking steps. The New York City police department announced Jan. 28 it would bring parents to trial for crimes committed by their children. In San Francisco, parents brought into court for delinquencies are being given suspended sentences provided they attend a parents school, which, they say, is quite successful.

"The Authority on Authorities"

WEAK HAND DECLARER

JUST A LONG suit, without a single card either in or accompanying it, makes a good hand for declarer when the dummy opposite contains a wealth of high cards divided among all the suits. But the hand full of high cards is virtually helpless if it is declarer opposite a dummy with nothing but a long suit, not a solitary way to get over there to take a trick. For that reason, a long suit holder with an otherwise worthless hand should make every logical effort to take the play away from a partner whose bidding shows general power, especially if his suit is a major.

North had not the slightest difficulty to make that contract, plus an extra trick in a team game. The diamond 5 was led, enabling West to cash two tricks in a hurry, but North took all the rest when two top cards dropped the outstanding trumps. At the other table, North responded with 3-Spades to the same opening bid of 2-No Trumps. But after his partner bid 3-No Trumps, he passed. That left South in a hopeless contract. West led the heart 4, the Q forcing the A. South scored his A and K of spades and then wished futilely that he could exchange his 10 with the dummy's 9. Unable to, he laid down the 10, then forlornly led the diamond 2. West won it and returned his heart 2 to the 10, which was allowed to win, and the third heart knocked out the K. South led a second diamond, hoping East would have to win, but West did and ran the two hearts that set the impossible contract.

North at that table criticized South for bidding the 3-No Trumps, saying his own 3-Spade bid had shown just the kind of hand he held and called for South to bid 4-Spades if he had three of the suit. South retorted that North with six spades in a worthless hand, should have taken out the No Trump game to spades. Shall we say both were right?

His lean, weathered face sobered at her words. Aunt Pen, knitting in her rocking chair, emitted a sound that was very close to a disdainful snort and her needles clicked furiously.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

IT SEEMED to Sherry that her mother's glance rested speculatively on Lex several times during the short drive out to the farm, as though she were trying to classify him, to fit him into exactly the proper pigeonhole in her mind. Sherry sensed, too, that her mother found Lex somewhat different than she had expected. Younger, perhaps? More polished in manner? More attractive? Sherry knew her mother's surprise was largely her fault. She hadn't told Leda much about Lex, preferring to hold him fast in her own consciousness, a secret warmth to wrap herself in. She had felt unwilling to share her growing knowledge of him with anyone, even her mother. Least of all her mother, Sherry thought honestly. Because Leda had a way of asking questions, of getting things out of you which you had no intention of telling. And Sherry hadn't wanted to reveal the way she felt about Lex. He didn't suspect at all and she could better ignore her feeling so long as she kept it secret.

So maybe I am an ostrich, Sherry thought, sitting in the station wagon with Lex and her mother, watching the landscape bright with winter sunshine rush past. But I guess I can kid myself if I want to—if I'm happier pretending . . .

Later, when dinner was over and Steve had hobbled back into the firelit living-room, accompanied by Leda and Aunt Pen, Lex laydawned Sherry in the hall and suggested going to the movies. They often drove into Brundage on a Saturday night. He said, "Steve and Aunt Pen have your mother to talk to. They won't miss us."

Sherry nodded. "Swell. You get the car and I'll tell them we're going. If we hurry, we can make the eight o'clock show."

She already had her coat on when she stuck her head into the living-room and announced her and Lex's intention.

"Have fun," Aunt Pen beamed. And Steve nodded, grinning.

"But, Sherry—" Leda's brows lifted.

"Eve, darlings," Sherry was gone at the crunch of car wheels on the drive. The front door banged after her.

Steve had just been thinking what a lovely picture Leda made in the firelight, relaxed in a deep chair, her slim white hands clasped on her crossed knees.

Now she sat up straighter and frowned faintly. "Tell me, Steve—is Sherry in the habit of rushing off to the movies with your hired man when she comes out here for a week-end?"

His lean, weathered face sobered at her words. Aunt Pen, knitting in her rocking chair, emitted a sound that was very close to a disdainful snort and her needles clicked furiously.

Steve explained, "He isn't exactly a hired man, Leda. Although I can't see why it would matter greatly if he was. As for your question, yes, they occasionally go to the movies when she comes out. Sometimes they go skating, or tobogganing, or to dances. After all, why not? They're both young, they like fun. And they're good friends. They seem to enjoy each other's company."

Leda's maroon-tipped fingers drummed delicately on the arm of her chair. "Sherry told me a little about him some time ago. I can't quite remember. It didn't seem very important at the time."

As he tipped tobacco from an old leather pouch into his pipe and lit up, Steve sketched in a little about Lex's background, his ambition.

"Isn't that rather odd," Leda demanded, "in a young man? One who apparently never did any farming before?"

"I don't think so," Steve's tone was mild. "It seems a very sensible ambition to me. But then, I'm a farmer."

Leda smiled at him. "You're a law unto yourself, Steve. But seriously—"

"I'm quite serious," Steve said. "And I'm no law unto myself. Neither am I the freaky tone makes me sound. I five the way to like, doing work which I happen to enjoy and to feel is important. Lots of men share my views. Why shouldn't Lex?"

"Has he money, Steve?" Leda asked then. "Will he be able to go into farming on anything like the scale on which you operate?"

Officers Elected At Monday Club Meeting

Mrs. Blackburn
Mrs. Haswell
Speakers

Mrs. Melvin Kiger, North Court street was elected president of the Monday club at the regular meeting of that organization which was held in the trustees room at Memorial Hall, Monday evening.

Mrs. T. L. Huston, president, was in charge of the meeting when Miss Margaret Rooney, chairman of the nominating committee presented the slate of officers for the coming year. Other members of the committee were Mrs. R. R. Bales and Miss Florence Dunton.

Mrs. James P. Moffitt was named first vice president; Mrs. George Haswell, second vice president; Mrs. A. D. Blackburn, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Cromley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Irwin Leist, treasurer; Miss Nelle Weldon, historian; Mrs. Charles May, chairman of the program committee with Mrs. A. P. McCoard and Mrs. James L. Smith, other members; Mrs. G. L. Nickerson, member at large.

Following the election of officers Mrs. Collis Young and Mrs. Don Mitchell were elected to membership.

Mrs. Charles Gilmore read a report by the committee which took magazines to the Pickaway county home.

It was announced at this time that the next regular meeting would be held April 14.

Mrs. Robert Young was chairman of the evening's program and presented Mrs. George Haswell, who used for her discussion "Little Journeys to California."

MRS. HASWELL said, "Sunny California—land of sunshine and flowers, where the tourist can travel endlessly through groves of orange, lemon, grapefruit and avocados on broad smooth highways, lined with poplars, eucalyptus, oleanders and numerous blooming trees." She spoke of "Los Angeles as the wonder city of the United States with countless scenic wonders. In California are forest-clad mountains capped with snow, flowering carpeted deserts and lakes, waterfalls, beaches, and national parks of beauty and renown. On September 4, 1871, Governor Felipe-de-Neve established by royal decree, the present city of Los Angeles; the foundation for the most romantic and colorful city in the United States."

In continuing her discussion Mrs. Haswell said that "today Los Angeles county is the world's most interesting spot. This southland is already known as the place where a single county takes in ocean, desert, mountains and valleys. Located here is Death Valley, which dips to the basement of the earth and the tallest peaks reaching high in the clouds. Within a few hours one can be in deep snow or sunshine of the orange groves."

"AFTER all the winter rains the desert blooms in the Spring with all varieties of cacti and the Joshua tree. In the San Bernardino mountains, the peach, apricot, cherry and almond trees vie with snow covered mountains for attention. Specific attention was called to Easter Sunrise services in the Hollywood Bowl which is noted throughout the world for its wonderful acoustics. Climate in California results from two courses, a temperate current in the ocean, second the figuration of the mountain ranges, which intercept and reflect the sun's rays.

"Los Angeles is the world's movie capital. This land of make believe is where 85 per cent of all movies in the world are made. California has always been noted for its missions, first was founded in 1769 and is called "King's Highway" or the Royal Road." She also told of the San Juan Capistrano, Santa Barbara, San Gabriel mission and Forest Lawn. "Little Church of the Flowers, a typical village church of England, and Wee Kirk O' the Heather, an exact reproduction of the little Scottish Kirk, are spots not to be missed. Church of the Reconciliation, a memorial to the life and works of Rudyard Kipling, the Huntington library, Christmas tree Lane, tournament of roses, Palomar observatory, and the huge airport at Burbank, are only in part of the vivid portrayal of Mrs. Haswell's description of sunny California.

"SEATTLE—the last Frontier" was presented by Mrs. A. D. Blackburn, who opened her discussion by saying "Seattle, Washington particularly differs from other cities in the United States, because it is situated away from almost everywhere else." "Minneapolis is the last large city in the North West before you reach Seattle, beyond the rich black plains of Western Minnesota and North Dakota, and the broad reaches of Montana.

"In old days when the original proprietor platted the land into city blocks, they went by the point of a compass, while others ran their streets parallel with the harbor. Seattle's main streets are laid in successive higher tiers on the wedding-cake hillside, rising steeply from the bay. In 1851 the population of Seattle was exactly one, a nineteen year old lad named David Denny. Young Denny later with two companions, John Low and Lee Terry, formed an exploring party and selected the site for a city they intended to build. In time to come they were joined by their wives and families, and later quite a sizable group was settled here. Willing recruits were added from Portland, along with Captain Folger, the emigrants migrated from Puget Sound. Cedar blocks were split into shingles for a roof over their one room hut, and with the assistance of friendly Indians the village of Seattle was born."

"PERHAPS the one thing they did not know at this time was that Seattle was the gateway to Alaska, and that some day they would be busy fitting up expeditions for the Klondike gold rush. In time to come Henry Yosler of Baltimore, Maryland arrived at the small village, looking for a location for a steam sawmill. Dr. Henry A. Smith, physician, scholar and a man of letters took up a claim on the bay. Arthur Denny, speaker of the house of territorial legislation was influential in securing the territorial university for Seattle. Daniel Bagley, Methodist minister, probably did more than any man in building the University, with today's enrollment of 12,000 students.

"Seattle fire in 1889 will long be remembered, as the great fire changed the wooden town into one of brick and stone. Seattle was, the logical jumping off place, and became bedlam, with every man from all over the country going there for escape and adventure. The city was too full of people and money and mass hysteria, with every available ship chartered to haul prospectors North to Alaska. Today Seattle is a city of slightly less than 500,000. The lifelines now consist of four transcontinental rail lines and some 70 sea-lines that span the globe."

In conclusion Mrs. Blackburn said, "the story of Seattle is a story of courage and enterprise rewarded by success that had its taste of dust."

MOVIES, MOVIEGOERS GROWN UP---AT LAST

Lionel Barrymore, After Three Decades in Screen Work, Recalls Crude, Makeshift Films and Carefree Industry

LIONEL BARRYMORE—He "catches up with news" via the comics. At right, Barrymore ready for camera.

By VICTOR GUNSON
Central Press Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Lionel Barrymore today looked back on 32 years in Hollywood and decided that motion pictures, their players and their audiences have at last grown up.

"Picture making has not changed so much in principle over the years, but the stories we tell in pictures have undergone a complete metamorphosis," Barrymore summed it up.

Barrymore came to Hollywood from the stage in the early pioneer days, when, he recalled, the story ideas were so simple they could almost be written on a cigarette paper.

"Who could ever have imagined in the pre-talkie days that a picture like 'The Yearling' could have been successfully made?" he asked.

Hit or Miss

"I remember how Harry Carey and I used to get together on Mondays, work out a story for a western on a couple of sheets of scratch paper, and Tuesday the company would go out into the hills around Newhall and shoot it.

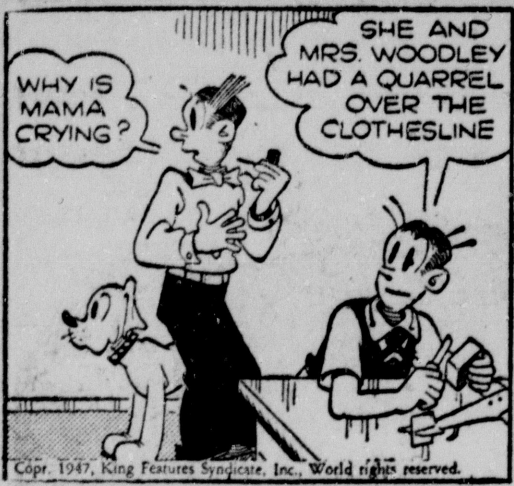

"Of course, the dialogue was not involved and if a scene went wrong we would film a close-up of somebody's reaction to cut to, and let the title writer cover us up with a title.

"This was when the David Wark Griffith unit used to come west every year for six months to take advantage of the sunshine.

"The stories were all simple—a hero, a heroine, a heavy for conflict, and usually some feat of daring, such as the intrepid horseman jumping across the gap in the hills near the old Newhall tunnel north of San Fernando.

Last year when the Carnegie "Pops" Concerts made their debut in New York, Robert Merrill was honored by being the featured soloist in the opening concert. This year, the baritone star will again take off the opening concert on May 1. The new sponsor of the series is Harry Reichold, president of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, with whom Margaret Truman made her radio debut.

Johnny Ryan, Sammy Kaye's vocalist, was born in Hoboken, New Jersey, the birthplace of another singer by the name of Frank Sinatra. The two were close boyhood friends and still get together to "chew the Hoboken fat" when appearing in the same city.

Although Perry Como, star of the "Supper Club", constantly supplies his mother with luxuries, he has never told her how much money he actually makes. He knows she couldn't believe it. Perry's income from radio, recordings and screen is estimated at $1,000,000 annually. The last time the baritone visited her in Canonsburg, Pa., Mrs. Como asked her son how his singing business was going. "Fine," said Perry. "I'm really doing fine, Mama." "That's good," smiled Mama. "You're going to be a rich boy some day."

Young Peter Faith, son of maestro Percy Faith of the "Contented Hour", has been taking recordings from home to play at his Music Appreciation Class in school. The teacher, noticing that the boy failed to include any discs by his famous father, asked the inevitable "Why?" Peter replied, "I intend to become a conductor, too, when I grow up and I'll make it on my own. I don't want to be influenced by my dad's style."

Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, President of Chicago University, calls for constitutional guarantees of "freedom of press" to be recognized as applying to radio and motion pictures as well. NBC television cameras go under water for the first time April 10 in a submarine at Brooklyn Navy Yard on occasion of 47th anniversary of acceptance of first submarine by the U. S. Navy. State Department has asked Congress to create a public corporation to take over the government's international short-wave broadcasting.

Bing Crosby, who was instrumental in having Hank Greenberg consent to play another season of baseball, will use Greenberg as a guest on one of his future stanzas. Producers are trying to induce Greta Garbo to make a transcribed radio series of "Anna Christie". Radio Theater on April 7 will dramatize "Alexander's Ragtime Band" with cast including Tyrone Power, Alice Faye, Al Jolson, Dick Haymes and Dinah Shore. NBC now permitting mention of "Hit Parade" on that web, reversing a previous regulation.

"Johnny Madero, Pier 23", a new weekly half hour adventure series debuts April 23, 8:30-9 p. m. Garry Moore and Jimmy Durante splitting as a comedy team in June. Their present Friday night spot will be retained by Durante, while Moore goes out on his own. The Red Skelton and People are Funny shows renewed by their sponsors for another year. Herbert Lehman, first Director of UNRRA, will speak on "The Problems of Displaced Persons" April 2, 8:30-9 p. m.

Eddie "Rochester" Anderson's benefit show for recent Los Angeles explosion victims will be held at the Shrine Auditorium April 24, with Jack Benny, Mary Livingston, Phil Harris, Alice Faye, Dick Haymes, Edgar Bergen, Dennis Day, Andy Russell, Frances Langford, Bob Burns and Don Wilson performing.

BRIDE'S INJURIES FATAL

COLUMBUS, O., April 1 — Burns suffered yesterday when an explosion and fire of mysterious origin destroyed her home a half mile north of Pickerington, caused the death of day of Mrs. Carl Morris, British war bride.

Neighbors said they heard an explosion and saw Mrs. Morris run from her home, her clothing enveloped in flames.
